Books by Dr Maciej Falski, deputy editor of Colloquia Humanistica, and our collaborator Dr Tijana Vuković won recognition in the 27th edition of the Professor Jerzy Skowronek Award. The ceremony was held during the 30th Historical Book Fair in the Kubicki Arcades at the Royal Castle in Warsaw on 24 November.

The jury chose the following books for the award:

Niechciana kultura. Odbudowa i instrumentalizacja dziedzictwa kulturowego w Bośni i Hercegowinie [Unwanted Culture: Rebuilding and Instrumentalization of Cultural Heritage in Bosnia and Herzegovina] by Dr Maciej Falski, published by University of Warsaw Press in 2022;

The Professor Jerzy Skowronek Award is granted by the editorial team of Magazyn Literacki KSIĄŻKI, and its jury consists of friends and students of the award’s patron. In his research, Professor Skowronek focused mainly on the history and international relations of Poland and the Balkan countries in the 18th and 19th centuries. He authored many publications connected with Warsaw and its history as well as works on military history, with special emphasis on national uprisings. The award is presented to the publishers and authors of books focusing on the broad spectrum of research topics pursued by the patron.
